El Al Ground Crew To Be 100% Local

Tel Aviv, Thursday. - Within two months, nearly all ground crew employed by El Al will be local, according to a statement by Mr. A. Pines, General Manager, at a press conference yesterday. The company intended to recruit foreign personnel in the past, but now it is decided that all ground crew will be local people wherever possible. Aircrew are not affected by the new arrangement.

Aga Khan to Receive Platinum Coins

CAIRO, Thursday (Reuters). - A beautiful platinum coin especially minted in Britain and a cheque for £200,000, will be presented to the Aga Khan during the celebration of his 50th birthday in London on February 22.

Count Hassan Laks of Dar es Salaam, chairman of the celebrations, announced here today that the money had been raised among Jewish Muslims all over Africa. He said the money would be given to the Aga Khan as an "unconditional gift." It is the equivalent of the weight in platinum during the wedding ceremony in Karachi last year.

The Aga Khan was too ill to attend a wedding ceremony in East Africa last year.

State Aid for Shimshon Cement

Jerusalem Post Reporter. Sharp criticism of the Government for alleged failure to give assistance to the Shimshon Cement Works at Harar was expressed yesterday by Simeon Karfink, the Director of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Mr. Peretz Bernstein, following a tour of the plant.

But a few minutes later, Mr. Bernstein was able to announce that a promised loan to Shimshon of some £1,000,000 would be made in a few days.

Mr. Karfink charged that the Government was being "poisoned" against Shimshon, and said that a rumour was being spread that the plant was to be imported by the Netherland plant at Ramla.

He stressed that all that had been achieved by Shimshon so far had been done solely with foreign capital.

ILSO,000 in Wages. Mr. Asher Bar-Lev, the acting works manager, stated that the Ministry of Commerce and Industry had continued to defer fulfillment of a promise it had made to advance a large sum to the company in return for which it would receive cement in April.

He asked whether the Government would prefer to provide emergency employment for the company's workers from the near-by mabara, who receive a total of IL50,000 a month in wages.

It was after this that Mr. Bernstein promised that the money would be handed over in a day or two, expressing his regret that he had not been able to bring the change along with him. He assured the company that the Government was vitally interested in Shimshon achieving its maximum production as soon as possible.

Some 200 workers are employed at the plant, and production is now 200 tons a day, with only one of the two kilns in operation, because of a technical hitch. It is understood that the second kiln is expected to be in operation in two months, doubling production.

Ambassador Eban paid tribute to the Christian, and particularly to the Catholic attitude toward the new Israel. "It is memorable and significant that the Christian world lent its sympathy to Israel's revival."

through a terrible drought in

The section of the address which Ambassador Eban said was "the Holy Places in Jerusalem" received widespread publicity in the Catholic press. "We fully aware that many Catholics consider the Holy Places as sacred to Christianity and that we must maintain within our control and command our most vigilant surveillance. This consideration led us constantly in recent years to proclaim our readiness to place under international influence the Holy Places in Jerusalem which are the cradle and inspiration of the Christian religion."

"By such a solution, reducing the full political independence of the people of the Holy Land to a mere technicality with international institutions in that which is truly unique in Jerusalem, we could achieve a double purpose. We should prevent an encroachment on political liberties of the Jewish population, while at the same time acknowledging the authority of the world community over the sanctified soil of your faith. Need I remind that political freedom and national self-expression are the most sacred objectives of the highest importance; that Jerusalem, the cradle of democracy, is the last place on earth with such wisdom and devotion to freedom and national devotion; and that religious purposes could triumph over a diminished Jewish community allied with national allegiance."

LOYALTY AND REVOLT

rise to this self-hatred in at least three major Socialist figures of Jewish descent. Ferdinand La-nails was 11 years old when he joined down in his diary some of the things he had seen and heard about the Jews to "ignite from end to end, the city of Damascus where Jews were there thousands," and he charged that they had murdered a Christian child for ritual purposes.

Born Lazzarburg in Germany, he had experiences with the mob in Italy, the run to her father's home in Poland, and the "chapter?" And an aged poor rabbi from Damascus, Hah Shain Shmuel Pankar, told me in Israel in 1968 of two of his "brothers," the "transmission" of the "Jews" who were "totally unknown to him," but he said that he had been told that the "corruption" was related to her visit to the "Jews" and the "massive defection from Jews," the "revelation" of the "Kishinev pogrom" that year (1908).

It is then that she asked me, "Why did not the Jews fight back? Two great leaders asked a pogrom."

Karl Marx, of Jewish descent but raised as a Christian, was rabid in his use of anti-Semitism, and some of his writing about the Jews, quoted in this volume, will surprise American radicals, to whom these notes have been played down. Indeed, the roll-call of radicals who were at the same time anti-Semites is quite comprehensive, including Voltairine de Cleyre, Proudhon, Fourier, Liebknecht, Jeanette, and early American radicals.

The final proof, if it were needed, of Judaism as the antithesis to organized social revolution in the modern world is the movement in modern times is given in Teller's remarkable exposition of the persecution of Zionists by the modern regime. He traces the persecution from the first arrests of Zionists in Russia in the 30's down to the latest move in the "iron curtain" in Israel. Much fascinating material, hitherto unpublished in English, is contained in his chapter on Communist activities in Palestine throughout the period of the Mandate, and on underground Zionist activities in Russia from 1933 until the Second World War. The sources of information vanished. But Teller points out, this is the longest continuous underground movement known in modern history.

Though the author seems at times too single-mindedly bent on proving his thesis, the material assembled in this volume is of tremendous value. Much that remains an unknown or even a little known book.

In preparing for publication the full manuscript received the following comments:

Everything as it is, this would be a very good short story. But 250 pages of most unrefined torture scenes rather too much of a good thing.
